

Week 10

Do not toil to acquire wealth; be discerning enough to desist when your eyes light on it, it is gone, for suddenly, it sprouts wings, flying like an eagle toward heaven.

Proverbs 23:4-5

Contribute to the needs of the saints and seek to show hospitality. Romans 12:13

Keep your life free from love of money, and be content with what you have, for he has said, "I will never leave you nor forsake you." Hebrews 13:5

Day 1 - Pray that as your husband works, he has a responsible work ethic, but that God reminds him that it is not about wealth but about glorifying God in all that he does.

Day 2 - Pray that your husband remembers the promises that God will never forsake him or his family as long as his treasures are in heaven and not on this earth. Pray that as the pursuit of wealth creeps up on him, that he remembers to be content in all that God has already provided for him and your family.

Day 3 - Pray that God grants you the ability to be content in what you have and where you are no matter the circumstances. Pray he gives you peace that passes all understanding when finances are shakey giving you the ability to witness to your husband giving him peace. Pray God reminds you that it is not about wealth, but that it is about Him.

Day 4 - Pray that your husband trusts God with your financial situation and lets go if he has a firm grip on it. Pray God reminds him that it all belongs to God already and to give back to God his tithe with a joyful heart knowing God will provide the difference if needed.

Day 5 - Pray that together, you and your husband find ways to bless others with time, service, hospitality, or financially remembering that even though these things will take time and money away from your bottom line, that God will bless.
